Clinical Pharmacology In Psychiatry Bridging The Experimental Therapeutic Gap
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects wistfully on Tom’s escapades and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime. He is hungry, and Aunt Polly tells him that he will not be skipped school that afternoon and must reprimand. Tom and his friend Huckleberry Finn are sent to the back of the house, and Tom feels angry and upset. He decides to steal a watch and a pocketbook from the house next door.

Tom goes out of the house into the night air. The street is cloudy, and he wonders what to do next. He decides to steal a watch from the house next door. He sneaks into the house and finds a pocketbook. He decides to take it and hide it in his pocket.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whiterush the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of名誉。Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
