Tom comes home at supper. As he had been skipping school all day, Aunt Polly had been worried. When she sees him, she is even more surprised, as he looks much worse than usual. Aunt Polly inquires about his adventures. During supper, Tom tells her how he was skipped school that afternoon and went down to the river, where he found a gold coin in the dirt. He was so excited that he couldn’t help himself from disposing his dinner in the washbasin.

Tom goes out of the house and begins to think about what to do with the gold coin. He decides to buy a new shirt and buy some tobacco. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom meets Huckleberry Finn. Tom and Huck become friends and eventually choose the new clothes all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jack passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a load of nubble. Jack almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chooses him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
