The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with ink, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischief and how the boys have got away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime and is surprised to find his father waiting for him. Tom has been skipped school that afternoon and was supposed to be playing with Huckleberry Finn, but instead, Tom's half-brother, Huck, has been caught playing with boys from the next town. Tom has sworn never to associate himself with the boys who cause trouble.

Tom goes out of the house in search of Huckleberry Finn. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom meets a man who is demanding money from an old woman. The man is a con man, and Tom decides to help the old woman. Tom and the con man are caught by the police, and Tom is taken to the police station. The con man is eventually chased away by the town's residents.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of marble. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his labor.
