Hypnosis And Conscious States The Cognitive Neuroscience Perspective
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouting the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whapping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s conduct and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. His aunt asks him how his adventure of this morning went, and Tom replies that he was skipped school that afternoon and went swimming. While wading in the stream, Tom had seen a $5 bill and dove in to get it, but failed. Tom’s own brother, Joe Harper, found the bill and shared it with Tom, who was embarrassed but thankful. Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out of the house in the evening to visit the new arrival. He sees Tom’s old friend, Jim, who has been working in the West and is now back. Tom and the new arrival engage in a friendly chat, and eventually they cross the streets to see the new home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim goes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of meal. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.
