The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects wistfully on Tom's mishap, and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. He talks about the adventures he had about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly comments that he should not have skipped school that afternoon and that every ounce of energy he spent selling pickles on the bridge and down by the railroad tracks he should have put in his studies. Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom波浪, especially his half-brother Huck. Tom promises to start himself to disguise his homework.

Tom goes out of the house in the evening. Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get Jim to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of marble. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.
