The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sorrowfully on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time and is told to go straight to bed and be skipping school that afternoon and next Monday and forever after. Uncle Tom is in a state of confusion and alarm, but still, Tom’s half-brother, Ben, is looking forward to the return of his nagging friend. Meanwhile, Aunt Polly is content.

Tom goes out of the house in the evening and sets out to white wash the fence. He hears voices, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of mattress. He almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his troubles.

An inhaler (puffer or pump) is a medical device used for delivering medication into the body via the lungs. It is mainly used in the treatment of asthma and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease. Zanamivir, used to treat influenza, must be administered via inhaler. To reduce deposition in the mouth and throat, and to reduce the need for precise synchronization of the start of inhalation with...
