Writing Philosophy A Students Guide To Writing Philosophy Essays
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out dramatically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime, his clothes torn and sullied, and he tells Aunt Polly all about his adventures. During supper, Aunt I says to Tom, “I can’t have a homesick boy that afternoon and next morning. I’ll be skipped school that afternoon and next morning and will have to go around the house and show her that his clothes are still worn from the day before, but I can’t, Tom’s half brother. He goes to school at the same time as Tom and wears the same clothes.”

Tom goes out of the house into the street, checks himself to disguise his face, and heads around the corner. He sees Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom goes out of the house and runs down the street. When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly makes Tom out to whitewash the fence. Sam passes by, and Tom tries to get Sam to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a cake of soap and a bottle of ink. Sam almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whiten his face. Tom enlists the help of his neighbor, and Tom helps to get him to do some of the whitening in return for a “whale’s belly,” a kind of candle. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.
Three Stages of Writing

1. Early Stages
   The early stages of writing a philosophy paper include everything you do before you sit down and write your first draft. These early stages will involve writing, but you won't yet be trying to write a complete paper. You should instead be taking notes on the readings, sketching out your ideas, trying to explain the main argument you want to advance, and ...

2. Planning
   Once you have a good sense of what you want to say, it's time to start planning your paper. This involves organizing your thoughts, deciding on the structure of your essay, and creating an outline.

3. Writing
   Now that you have a plan, it's time to start writing. This is where you will develop your ideas, support your arguments, and present your conclusions. Remember to write clearly and coherently, and to cite your sources appropriately.
